City of Seattle

John Saldana reports there is steady work, though it's not nearly as busy as it was a year ago. EV charging station requirements for infrastructure are going into effect on June 7, 2019 (see seattle.gov for more info). This will affect residential and commercial projects. John notes that all City of Seattle vehicles are now electric.

City of Kirkland

James reports that Kirkland has steady activity though they too have slowed down. The sector with the most activity is Tenant Improvement.
